MATURE READERS (grades 9-12)

Ang, Audra. To the People, Food Is Heaven: Stories of Food and Life in a Changing China. In China, the world’s next superpower, life is comfortable for the fortunate few. For others, it’s a hand-to-mouth struggle for a full stomach, a place to live, wages for work done, and freedom to speak openly. In a place where few things are more important than food, “Have you eaten yet?” is another way of saying hello.

Cunningham, Darryl. How to Fake a Moon Landing: Exposing the Myths of Science Denial. Is hydro-fracking safe? Is climate change real? Did the moon landing actually happen? Author-illustrator Darryl Cunningham looks at these and other hot-button science topics and presents a fact-based, visual assessment of current thinking and research on eight different issues everybody’s arguing about.

Gaiman, Neil. The Ocean at the End of the Lane. When a middle-aged man returns to his childhood home in Sussex, England for a funeral, he remembers frightening childhood memories relating to the neighbor girl who promised to protect him from the darkness unleashed by a suicide at the pond at the end of their street.

Green, Sally. Half Bad. In modern-day England, where witches live alongside humans, Nathan, son of a White witch and the most powerful Black witch, must escape captivity before his seventeenth birthday and receive the gifts that will determine his future.

Rowell, Rainbow. Eleanor & Park. Set over the course of one school year in 1986, this is the story of two star-crossed misfits – smart enough to know that first love almost never lasts, but brave and desperate enough to try. When Eleanor meets Park, you’ll remember your own first love – and just how hard it pulled you under.

Simsion, Graeme. The Rosie Project. When Don Tillman, a genetics professor, decides it is time to get married, he devises a scientific survey designed to filter out undesirables, calling it the “Wife Project.” When Don meets Rosie, she is quickly eliminated as wife material, but he soon discovers that love finds you, not the other way around.

Smith, Andrew. Winger. Two years younger than his classmates at a prestigious boarding school, fourteen-year-old Ryan Dean West grapples with living in the dorm for troublemakers, falling for his female best friend who thinks of him as just a kid, and playing wing on the Varsity rugby team with some of his frightening new dorm-mates.

Yang, Gene Luen. Boxers (Boxers & Saints). One of the most ambitious graphic novels First Second has ever published. It offers a penetrating insight into not only one of the most controversial episodes of modern Chinese history, but into the very core of our human nature. Gene Luen Yang is rightly called a master of the comics form, and this book will cement that reputation.

Every school year, the Panda Steering Committee publicizes lists of highly recommended books for readers in international schools in China. The four reading categories are: Younger Readers (EC3-grade 2); Middle Readers (grades 3-5); Older Readers (grades 6-8); and Mature Readers (grades 9-12). Each list consists of eight to ten titles that were published over the last three years and that span a wide range of genres. Students are encouraged to read as many books as possible and are invited to vote for their favorite book in the weeks after Chinese New Year.

The Panda Book Awards initiative is now in its seventh year and its popularity has grown tremendously. During the first year, five international schools participated in voting. This year, over thirty international schools have joined the initiative, and over 3,500 students cast their votes.

The reading initiative is the responsibility of the Panda Steering Committee, a group of international librarians in China. These professionals volunteer to read, review and discuss book titles submitted by other librarians or students. The goal of the Panda Book Awards initiative is to instill an enduring love of reading and to take students on an exciting reading adventure.

In the fall, the Panda 2014-2015 books should be available at all participating schools. In the meantime, explore the handout and put the Panda titles on your summer reading list. For more details on the Panda reading initiative visit the following websites:
